

Dubbo Research Interest Group

Meetings 2020

The Dubbo Research Interest Group (DRIG) is a peer network bringing together clinicians, academics and students who have an interest in research. You can use the sessions to help progress your own research by presenting proposals, findings or problem solving amongst friends. You can also request a specific topic which might be useful to you that month (for example a refresher on analysis or writing for publication).

Novice and experienced researchers are welcome. Students are welcome to bring their MD research projects.
